Additional Comments :

With regard to question #1, the oil/water phases being collected from the skimmer boats etc., as well as the decon waste water, are being stored in frac tanks and/or are loaded directly into vacuum trucks for immediate shipment. Therefore, only the oiled solid waste is being stored in lined rolloff boxes.

With regard to question #3, I did not observe an area specifically designated for PPE and sorbents generated in the D-con area, therefore am unsure as to whether the containers were covered or not.
