Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Davin Virta

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Ruth Cloonan

I sail on Lake Michigan and strictly follow a "nothing manmade" overboard rule. I am prohibited by law from allowing any pollutants from my boat entering the lake, and rightfully so. It sends the wrong message, on top of countering the efforts of so many of us who enjoy and respect the lake, to permit the Badger's massive pollution. While I dislike ending the era of the Badger, it is time, as it has been for so many of the old boats that plied the waters of this awesome fresh water lake.

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Kerry Owens

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

This excessive level of polluting is shameful. Plain and simple. Shut it down, we can manage fine without it. Encourage green energy powered transport!!

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Murray Weiss

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Don Devona

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website. An agreement needs to be reached.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Judy Holmes

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

I live in Illinois and have lived in both Michigan and Wisconsin. I have proudly worn a Bucky Badger sweatshirt. But I feel not pride for or attachment to SS Badger. This ship is the bane of the environment and its operators make a mockery of every law-abiding business that has adhered to reasonable guidelines regarding the dumping of waste. If they can't keep their promises, we don't need them around.

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Heidi Parsons

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Bernard Grysen

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Ellen Berranen

DOJ and EPA:

Please require the SS Badger to stop dumping garbage and coal ash into Lake Michigan or face an order to cease operations. Our newspaper has said the ferry has been given another year to operate before being shut down. Please stick to this time table. Isn't there an inspection system to force the ferry to clean upP?

There is no reason that the SS Badger should be getting a pass on pollution. The company runs the Badger from early morning until late night, not 24 hours a day, but almost. I have taken a 12 pm trip from Wisconsin arriving in MI about 4 am as well as the day trips. The ship spews smoke the whole time.

Our lakes are in danger and private enterprise has no right to continue to cause damage to the lake and fish. Stop giving the Badger a pass, they have had time enough to make changes.

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Lake Michigan is the source of my drinking water. To discover that the SS Badger is dumping tons of coal ash into the lake each day is incredulous.

Jeopardizing the health of millions for the sake of a small group of sight seers is really very hard to fathom.

Can this simply be a common sense decision to benefit millions who rely on the lake for its drinking water.

No business or dime of profit is worth putting anyones health at risk.

Please shut the SS Badger down immediately.

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season. Would you drink a glass of water with a briquette of coal in it? Didn't think so - well people are drinking water from the big lakes daily and we need to keep it clean!!!

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution. It should no longer be allowed. Can the state help find AN ALTERNATIVE DUMPING SITE other than in the water? CAN A COLLEGE researcher/grad students HELP CHANGE THE BOAT OVER TO an alternative source of energy??? Seriously.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should provide for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website!

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

George and Diana Davis

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Mark Juergens

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

I find the continued dumping of coal ash into Lake Michigan disgusting. If I were to dump even a trash can of this hazardous material into Lake Michigan, I would be cited and fined. It is time to end this practice once and for all. This company has had years to come up with a solution to the practice of dumping this material into the Lake. All other ships have long since gone to other methods of propulsion.

While I understand your position, that this is the best way to clean up this practice, and possibly shorten the compliance time, I do not think that there is sufficient penalty in your consent agreement for non-compliance. Additionally, a shorter time frame for compliance should be mandated.

The sooner this material is removed from the Lakes, the better.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Glen & Jane Hampton

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Sarah Hanson

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

JOSEPH DUBANIEWICZ

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Warren Metzger

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Anna Ronk

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Gregory Monk

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree. In addition please take my following research paper and its sources into serious consideration. It contains pertinent information concerning the harm coal ash causes.

Mountaintop Removal (MTR): Why Americans should care; By Jason Pavela

From the first documented discovery of coal in America by Louis Joliet, and his father Jaques Marquette around 1674 here in Illinois, America's use of coal has increased exponentially. This is not because people love to burn coal, but because it is in human nature to work toward a better quality of life. This was, and still is the purpose of coal (Department of Energy).

Through its use, humanity was able to climb out of the dark ages and begin to enjoy some of the finer things in life. Coal was efficient enough, and cheap enough, due to its abundance, for widespread use (Wickett).

But now, due to advancements in technology and recent studies, it is necessary and feasible to convert our use of fossil resources to renewable resources in the near future while meeting growing energy needs without harming the economy (Alters 6; Rhodes 49).

The recent studies cited herein provide compelling evidence of the harmful effects MTR has on the environment, human health, and the continued use of MTR which itself is a major polluter on many different levels due to the different vehicles the numerous toxins use to travel through the environment during the coal mining and energy production process (Palmer 148-49).

Credible studies in favor of the continued use of MTR were not found. "MTR has been described as the activity responsible for 'the greatest amount of environmental destruction caused by a single type of activity in the country today . . . .' From deforestation to air pollution, destruction of wildlife, and permanent loss of waterways, the effects of MTR on the environment [and humanity] are multifaceted" (Kaneva 933).

With the use of numerous Peer Reviewed Studies, and Statutes I will show how Mountaintop removal is harmful not just to the Appalachians and their region, but ultimately to all Illinoisans and the environment.

MTR is a form of strip coal mining that has been used in the Appalachian Mountains for over 120 years, but increased drastically in the 1990's, and is again on the rise. The first step of MTR requires that the land be cleared of all timber and vegetation in preparation for mining. This includes cutting down live trees that are home to rare species of all ranges of life.

Second, miners use large amounts of explosives to blast the rock away from deep within the mountain. This causes harmful coal dust to be released into the air. Surrounding communities are blanketed with coal dust year round. This level of contamination has been linked to many illnesses' and has been proven to be the cause of many premature deaths, and birth defects (Hendryx, Lung Cancer 2 5; Hendryx, Mortality from 245-47; West 1-3; Ahern 6-7).

When it comes to air pollution, coal companies argue that coal dust cannot travel far enough through the air to be considered a real threat to anyone, yet precautionary measures are taken to prevent workers from inhaling these pollutants, and Laws were created to protect the surrounding communities from these same pollutants because they are known to be harmful. Unfortunately big coal companies rarely follow the Law when it comes to MTR (ELAW 13). "The scientific evidence of the severe environmental and human impacts from mountaintop mining is strong and irrefutable," 'said the University of Maryland's Palmer [Professor and Director of the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory] "Its impacts are pervasive and long lasting, and there is no evidence that any mitigation practices successfully reverse the damage [MTR] causes" (McGlynn 18).

In addition to the health hazards usually associated with the practice of coal mining, such as black lung disease, MTR causes a myriad of health problems for the communities neighboring mining sites. Constant exposure to dust particles caused by explosion blasts results in unprecedented levels of chronic disease. A risk increase of sixty-four percent for chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and seventy percent for kidney disease is not only disturbing, it is immediate, urgent, and unacceptable (Kaneva 976).

Third, miners dig through the rubble separating what they do not want from the coal they are mining for. The waste is referred to as overburden. It contains toxic heavy metals that are normally found well below ground level, yet not in the water supply.

The fourth step involves dumping the overburden into surrounding valleys and streams. Consequently the toxins are released into the environment, destroying the streams and surrounding wildlife (Margaret 13-18).

Fifth, the coal is transported to a nearby facility for cleaning. Water is used to wash unwanted particles from the coal to prevent dust from polluting the air as the coal is transported via railway. This process creates a type of waste called slurry which is more problematic than the dust. This is due to the condensed toxins being introduced into the water supply via seepage from openings in poorly maintained or incorrectly constructed retention ponds, versus the density of the coal dust as it travels through the air, then eventually contaminating where it settles. Would not covering the coal trains to prevent the spread of coal dust seem more environmentally friendly, and cost effective instead of choosing between the lesser of the two evils? And if it is not more cost effective should Laws be amended to increase fines enough so that covering the trains to eliminate air pollution, and slurry would be the most cost effective (Epstein 80-81)?

Slurry comes in another form, a toxic mix of coal ash and water. In addition to the abundance of pollutants that coal mining is proven to distribute in the Appalachian region, coal ash, a byproduct of burning coal, is radioactive and released into our environment all over America. This allows radiation, and other toxins from uranium, arsenic, lead, mercury, cadmium, chromium, selenium, antimony, barium, beryllium, boron, chlorine, cobalt, manganese, molybdenum, nickel, thallium, vanadium, and zinc, which are concentrated in the leftover ash, to seep into the water supply. This also allows the toxins to drift through the air after the slurry dries on the shores of the reservoirs that it has been dumped into. Why is coal ash not mixed and stored with petroleum waste instead of water to prevent it from becoming air born? And why is it not stored with petroleum waste to prevent it from contaminating the water supply (Hvistendahl 1; Physicians 1; Gottlieb 12; Yulsman)?

Coal ash is comparable to nuclear power's waste. Except coal's waste has not been sealed up in fifty gallon drums, it has been exposed to the environment allowing its toxins to seep into the water supply. Environmental Science & Technology's findings show the effects of slurry on the water supply are devastating to plant and animal life in the surrounding region and beyond due to the improper disposal and storage of the slurry. The seepage contaminates the Appalachian water supply to such an extent that tap water turns as dark as tea. If the water is as densely contaminated as this, how far then will the contaminants be able to travel compared to what they ordinarily would under their normal sedimentary conditions? Coal and all its parts certainly would not be able to travel as far imbedded in rock. "Sites where coal ash has contaminated groundwater or surface water have increased 25-fold since 1999 to more than 200 sites in 37 states" (Bernhardt 8120; Roberts 1; Margaret 13, 3; Evans 6).

Additionally, coal ash is so alarmingly over abundant we don't know what to do with all of it. So our elected officials decided to hide it in products that we use every day and not tell us about it, like dry wall, and formica to name a few. Why is it that products that are known to cause cancer must be labeled as so, yet products with coal ash "encapsulated" in them are not required to have warning labels warning us of its toxicity, such as in wallboard, concrete, roofing materials, and bricks. Yet the EPA has concerns about "unencapsulated" coal ash. Why then hasn't the EPA addressed the potential for the coal ash to become "unencapsulated" in the demolition process (Bowman)?

The sixth and final step of MTR is the reclamation of the destroyed mountain. The mining companies are required to bring the land back to its "approximate original contour" in accordance with The Surface Mining Control And Reclamation Act Of 1977 but rarely do. When the land is brought back as closely as possible to its original contour it is still not returned to an environmentally friendly state. The soil is far from its original density, it is fluffed with air during some of the steps in the mining process making the land unusable for scheduled reclamation such as building and planting. Additionally the stream beds that the coal companies recreate do not contain the similar structure constructed through nature's ability. The life sustaining elements become mixed with large enough amounts of coal's toxins to prevent normal life from returning (Suggs 2; United 1; Margaret 19-25).

"Measures of health-related quality of life (HRQOL)" are important tools that are currently being used to assess the health of Appalachian communities in order to help improve the decision-making process among the upper echelon who care about Appalachia's future. After taking relevant variables into consideration, studies have shown what was already known. Individuals living in mining towns are at a much greater risk of physical and physiological health problems than those in the rest of the nation (Zullig 848,852).

As more and more research is conducted about the effects of MTR, more and more people are opposing the behavior of the coal companies in Appalachia. The research that has been conducted proves beyond a reasonable doubt that MTR has many harmful effects, each one individually is detrimental to the health, safety, and well-being of every individual in the surrounding mining communities "[23 recent] peer-reviewed scientific studies have proven the negative impacts that coal mining has on the economy, ecology and human health in Central Appalachia. The evidence is overwhelming. Coal mining has damaging effects on the ecosystem, and human lives." (Cousins).

There is no doubt that MTR is detrimental to the health, safety, and well-being of all Appalachian residents, but money causes some to look the other way, while others are blinded by distance, thinking they are too far to be affected. Will future studies show this is not the case? Will time reveal coal's pollutants travel further than what currently has been discovered? Michael Hendryx, PhD stated "More research may still be needed, but the time has come to shift the burden of proof to the mining companies" (Hendryx, Relations Between 670-671; Focus A483).

Chris Cline is the owner of multiple mines in numerous States. One of which is here in Illinois. The mine is contaminating drinking water in Carlinville, south of Springfield. If Chris Cline is willing to look the other way here, he certainly will elsewhere. Until mine owners are fined in proportion with their income for violations, there is no motivation for them to act responsibly. Until they risk losing their fortunes, they won't care (Bergquist)

In addition to MTR polluting the water and air here in America, it is polluting far more in China. Worse yet, we will be the ones to feel the brunt of it in the form of acid rain. So not only is MTR destroying our mountains and killing our people, but it's destroying other Countries and in turn bringing more harm to us. Why is it that we have stringent environmental Laws about burning coal, yet we will sell our coal to Nations that have no environmental Laws whatsoever? We all breathe the same air, and drink the same water. Why doesn't America put a high tariff on exported coal for Nations that do not abide by a specific environmental protocol (Turks)?

At the same time we should take a look at our own laws to see how we can strengthen them. One in particular, The Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 (SMCRA) should be amended to remove the deficiencies created through ambiguity that cause the current Law to be unconstitutional. SMCRA Section 515 (b) (1) doesn't offer protection to the surrounding community directly affected by MTR. It requires mining companies to remove all of the coal at one time from permitted sites thus allowing mining companies to do the most damage. Amending this portion of SMCRA will offer needed protection to the surrounding communities directly affected by MTR. More restrictions placed on mining companies would ultimately lead to less destructive action by the mining companies. The current Law uses words that allow it to be incorrectly interpreted through the abuse of autonomy by the people it is intended to guide. If the current Law is not fulfilling its intended purpose amendments need to be made so the Law will fulfill its intended purpose (Pavela; Surface 76).

To give the reader a glimpse of how badly polluted our water and air is, the last old school coal plant here in Illinois still dumps toxic coal ash directly into Lake Michigan, and will be allowed to do so until 2014. If a Nation with stringent Laws acts in this manner, what then does China do...? What will India do...? What will the hundreds of other Nations coming behind them do? What should we do? I propose we lead the way and heal ourselves by give up our dependence on fossil fuels so we can reach out to all Third World Nations and teach them how to industrialize with renewable energy in order to help them from harming the environment, themselves, and future generations. This may be our only hope. What else can we do (Meador)?

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Cathy Green

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Joanna Klonsky

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

Please, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Please and Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

I appreciate the service provided by the S. S. Badger, but at the same time, I highly resent having Lake Michigan continually polluted. While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

My family and I have crossed Lake Michigan on the S.S. Badger but for all the wonderful memories those crossings gave us, they are still not worth the environmental toll. It would be ideal for families to be able to cross Lake Michigan on the S.S. Badger and know that they are not contributing to tons of coal ash being dumped into one of the USA's greatest freshwater resources, one of the five Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

I am really tired of the Badger getting a pass or extension all the while you are polluting our drinking water. Make them stop now! If you say "No!" they will stop! Like a spoiled child they will keep doing bad things until they are forced to cease and desist! This was supposed to be the last deadline. Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

David Millett

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Cendra Lynn

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

James Odonnell

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Kathy Uher

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Laura Miller

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Wolfgang Rosenau

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

David Linebarger

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Steven Buck

Our beautiful and irreplaceable Lake is being assaulted by people who are plundering it with no conscience for their own monetary gains. Do they ever think what their hedonist actions will do? And when they have destroyed it, what will they do next?

It has taken B P, the company that has been polluting Lake Michigan for years to finally get caught in just one of their monstrous schemes. It is time to SHUT DOWN the illians who own and run that filthy SS Badger; a pirate ship if ever there was one.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While the DOJ and EPA believe that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I ask that you strengthen the proposed consent decree in the following ways:

- * There should be an explicit agreement by both parties that they will not request any further extensions after the summer 2014 season;
- * The DOJ and EPA should consider increasing civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution;
- * The DOJ and EPA should consider steeper reductions in the Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to underline the need for compliance;
- * The owner/operators of the Badger should provide monthly reporting about how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easy-to-access website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Cleaner and more modern technology is available. It's past time to introduce it.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

John Arena

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Margaret Gazija

We have a house on the west coast of Beaver Island in Lake Michigan. The island residents, children and adults, swim and take pride in the beautiful water of the lake. They feel they are partaking of Nature when they take a few gulps of the clear blue water. Dumping coal ash into the lake is SO OLD FASHIONED and UNNECESSARY in these times. Please stop it the soonest possible..

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution. The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

There are some who suggest that concessions should be made to allow the S.S. Badger to continue to pollute Lake Michigan. My view is that known polluters need to be prosecuted. Private entities as well as multi-national corporations need to adopt the view that pollution is unlawful for society. Laws are not made to be neglected. If the S.S. While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Geraldine Tews

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Sandra Pearson

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Michael Raffety

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Colleen Shafer

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Vaughn Bullock

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Marc Terebelo

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Pam Ross

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

Lake Michigan provides the water we drink. It is one source of a very small resource of fresh water. Badger has stalled upgrades long enough and have tried every possible way of continuing their operation without owing punitive damages. While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Joseph Manelis

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Elisabeth Loos

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA must consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be and must be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

I know this coal ash needs to go some where, but not in my drinking water? Are there not enough taped out open pit sand and gravel mines that could be clay lined to dump the coal ash into, or do they all need to be turned into lake front home property? Really, into my drinking water, shamful it is just shamful!

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Demetra Giannis

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

SS Badger? More like, SS Weasel. I'm amazed this ancient relic of the Industrial Revolution still plies our drinking waters. Hey, even those carriages on Lake Shore Drive clean up their horsy doo.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Gary Jones

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Anke Pearson

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Bruce White

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Timothy Bortles

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Dave Bokowski

In closing, as a Great Lakes maritime historian I am outraged that the company is too cheap to make the change. Tell the owner, Bob Magletts he does not need another Mercedes, he needs to respect the environment. He is a disgrace to the industry. He is a hypocrite, he could have made the conversion years ago. The company has no respect for the community, the maritime heritage of the Great Lakes or the natural environment.

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

Oh come on now! This is a no-brainer. Even for you guys...

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

John Walker

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Vicki Dickinson

Assistant Attorney General, U.S. DOJ-ENRD

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Jon Liebold

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Diane Norris

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

What we need is:

1. Agreement by US Department of Justice and US Environmental Protection Agency that there will be no further extensions which would allow the SS Badger to pollute Lake Michigan with coal ash following the 2014 summer season.
2. The US DOJ and US EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the SS Badger's continued pollution.
3. During the 2013 and 2014 summer season, the SS Badger's coal ash pollution should be reduced by stronger percentage reductions.
4. The SS Badger should be required to report monthly on how much coal ash it is dumping into Lake Michigan.

It is so sad that the pollution has been allowed for so long. The ability of Lake Michigan to recover from the coal ash is not unlimited!!

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Aimee Townsend

Dear U.S. DOJ-ENRD,

For too long, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry, Inc.'s S.S. Badger ship has dumped too much coal ash into Lake Michigan. It's time for this pollution to come to a stop. The S.S. Badger should clean up its operations and stop polluting our Great Lakes.

While I understand the U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's view that a consent decree may offer a quicker resolution to this pollution issue, I request that you consider the following ways of strengthening the proposed consent decree:

There should be an explicit agreement stated by both parties that they will not request any further extensions to the cessation of coal ash pollution by the S.S. Badger following the 2014 summer season.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider increasing the civil penalties for the S.S. Badger's continued pollution.

The U.S. DOJ and the U.S. EPA should consider providing for steeper percentage reductions in the S.S. Badger's coal ash dumping over the next two years in order to have a stronger path towards compliance.

The S.S. Badger should provide monthly reporting of how much coal ash is being dumped into Lake Michigan, and that information should be made publicly available on an easily accessible website.

Thank you for your consideration of these provisions to strengthen and improve the proposed consent decree.

Sincerely,

Scott Sebastian
