In response to the Pendimethalin Registration Guidance document dated March 29, 1985, American Cyanamid Company has submitted additional product chemistry data entitled "Part II, Section 61-3, Discussion of the Formation of Impurities for the Manufacturing-Use Product on Technical Prowl Herbicide - Potential Nitrosamines in Pendimethalin," dated November 19, 1985 (EPA Accession Number 260473).

These data and our conclusions are discussed in the attached confidential Appendix A.

Part I of the discussion on impurity formation as well as additional data on nitrosamine content and descriptions of analytical methods were submitted previously (Accession Number 260401, dated Nov. 6, 1985). See the 6/13/86 G. Makhijani memo for details. We reiterate our conclusion from that memo that no additional information is required under Section 61-3.

We defer to the Toxicology Branch regarding the toxicological significance of the possible nitrosamines impurities found during the manufacture and storage of pendimethalin. A copy of the original submission is available in Residue Chemistry Branch (RCB).
