Dear Mr. Kubit:

The following information is submitted by the Amicon Corporation in compliance with the reporting requirements for an Industrial User Discharge Permit.

All water samples were taken on September 16, 1981, in accordance with the MDC Rules and Regulations, Article II, Section 7 (C). Collection and analysis of the wastewater samples was carried out by Stephen Hynes, Safety Assistant for the Corporation. The hourly grab samples were collected from a vent opening located after the solvent separator; samples were analyzed for the pH immediately. An Altex 3500 Digital pH Meter was used for the analysis. A summary of the data for our discharge report is listed below.

Time	pH	Gallons Per Hour
8:10	6.85	0.85
9:10	6.69	1.50
10:10	6.45	7.29
11:10	6.44	15.70
12:10	6.19	37.80
1:10	6.19	7.0
2:10	6.90	129.25
3:10	6.95	2.20
4:10	7.05	2.85

Average pH = 6.63

Average Gallons Per Hour = 22.72

Radioactive Waste Disposal

Information concerning the discharge of radioactive wastes into the sanitary sewerage system has been gathered from the records of Amicon's Radiation Safety

Mr. R. D. Kubit
September 23, 1981
Page 2

Officer. The following isotopes and the total activity of the sink disposals for each isotope are listed below:

Year	Isotope	Activity	Average Activity Per Sink Disposal
1980	¹²⁵ I	76.2 μ Ci	0.95 μ Ci
	³ H	125 μ Ci	63.0 μ Ci
1981 (8 Months)	¹²⁵ I	33 μ Ci	0.6 μ Ci
	³ H	50 μ Ci	50.0 μ Ci
	¹⁴ C	2 μ Ci	2.0 μ Ci

The majority of the radioactive laboratory work involves transport studies which require low activity materials and presents no problems for sink disposals. The quantity of water needed to dilute the radioactive solutions to allowable concentrations (10 CFR 20, Table 1, Column 2, Appendix B) is minimal. The laboratory involved with the transport studies has averaged only seven sink disposals per month for the past two years.

Maintenance Schedule

A reduction in the number of laboratory personnel in the Lexington facility this past year has eased much of the burden on our solvent separator and acid treatment tank.

During 1980, the treatment tank was cleaned and refilled; the pH of a water sample taken at this time was 6.86.

The maintenance schedule for 1981 and following years will include quarterly checks on the pH of the wastewater discharged into the sanitary sewerage system. This schedule should provide us with adequate warning should the treatment tank require another revitalization.

If you have any questions pertaining to the information we have submitted for the discharge permit, please contact the Safety Department at 861-9600, Exts. 151, 198, or through the above address.
